

HEAVY TRAFFIC OVER WEEK-END NEARS RECORD

Under the bluest skies Gettysburg has seen in some time, and with a crisp air that made traveling a pleasure, nearly 4,000 tourists visited the battlefield over the week-end.

The number of guided tours Sunday, 76, was just one less than last Sunday when the Easter holiday gave more people a chance to travel. National cemetery officials estimated the visitations at 2,175 for Sunday and 1,764 for Saturday, when there were 53 guided tours.

One Minor Accident

Traffic on the highways continued heavy over the week-end with the number of cars seemingly as large as last week.

State police at the local sub-station found that the great majority of motorists were driving with care and caution over the week-end. Only one arrest was reported today, with Blaine Hartman, Biglerville, charged by state police before Justice of the Peace Martin Walter with failure to stop at a stop sign. A ten day notice will be sent.

The officers were also called to investigate a minor accident at the Bittinger's intersection on two dirt roads north of Hanover. The accident occurred when cars of William Zinn, Hanover R. D., and George Lawson, also of Hanover R. D., collided at 6:50 o'clock Sunday evening. Damage to the Zinn car was $15 and to the Lawson vehicle, $25.

RURAL MAILMEN HOLD MEETING

Bills affecting rural mail carriers recently passed by Congress and pay legislation pending were outlined Saturday evening by Thomas G. Walter, Washington, D. C., national president of the Rural Mail Carriers' Association, at a district meeting of carriers from York, Adams, Franklin and Fulton counties at Fairfield.

Another speaker at the dinner session held in the Fairfield community hall was the Rev. Nevil Smith, Hanover, who spoke on "The Second Half." Pointing out that "during the first half of the struggle for peace, from Pearl Harbor to V-J Day, people of all classes and types worked together as one to overcome the enemy," the Rev. Mr. Smith urged that "during the second half, from V-J Day to the final conclusion of peace we have taken an opposite course with everyone seemingly determined to work at odds with everyone else. Is there any reason why all men cannot work together in the present time as well as they did during the active fighting?"

One hundred and fifteen carriers attended the session at which John R. Hamme, New Oxford, state president, presided. Remarks were made by a number of state officers introduced at the meeting.

Walter Swisher, president of the Adams County Carriers, announced that a business meeting of the Adams carriers will be held Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, standard time (9 o'clock daylight saving) at the YWCA here.

Approximately $30 in cash was taken from the cash drawer last Friday noon, police said. The case is still under investigation.

NO CONFUSION AS TOWN TURNS TO FAST TIME

Gettysburg swung into Daylight Saving Time Sunday without any unusual confusion or excitement. So far as could be determined today practically everything moved "according to Daylight Time."

This morning school buses brought pupils from the rural areas on Daylight Time and there was no confusion from that source.

Throughout the rest of Gettysburg, a survey reveals, there was no confusion over the switch to Daylight Saving Time.

P. O. On Old Time

Parking meters, on which are printed the hours of operation, are being operated on Daylight Saving Time. A local police officer said there isn't anything to indicate that the meters are supposed to operate on Standard Time "and in view of the fact that Gettysburg is on Daylight Time and that the two large clocks in town have been turned to Daylight Time, the meters will be so operated."

The local post office is operating on Standard Time.

Postmaster Lawrence E. Oyler announced this morning that the office will continue on Standard Time until a change is ordered by the Chief Clerk of the Railway Mail Service, District 6, Harrisburg.

Postmaster Oyler explained that the nine incoming and nine outgoing star routes are operating on Standard Time and "too much confusion" would ensue if the local office adopted Daylight Saving Time. If the mail service clerk orders adoption of Daylight Time for the star routes the local office will do the same thing.

Star route carriers start arriving in Gettysburg at 6:25 a. m. and the last one leaves the local office at 6 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. Martin Grove, pastor of Bethlehem Lutheran church, assisted by Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, the bridegroom's pastor, Gettysburg, in the presence of relatives and friends. The church was decorated with white snapdragons and candelabra.

Mrs. William J. Ross, Harrisburg, gave an organ recital preceding the ceremony and also played the traditional wedding marches as the bridal party approached and left the altar. Miss Catherine Patterson, Harrisburg, sang "Now and Forever," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "O Perfect Love."

PREPARE TO SELL BUDDY POPPIES HERE

Poppy Day will be observed in Gettysburg, Saturday, May 25, but the sale of the veteran-made flowers will begin here this Saturday. It was announced today by Mrs. Joseph E. Codori, president of the local Legion Auxiliary, which is handling the poppy sale.

There are 5,000 of the "buddy" poppies to be sold locally with Girl Scouts and Girl Reserves to aid with the poppy-selling project. Cash prizes of $5, $4, $3, $2 and $1 have been offered by the Auxiliary to the girls turning in the largest amounts of cash for the poppies they sell.

Memorial poppies to be worn in honor of the dead of both world wars will be distributed on the streets by volunteer workers from the Auxiliary and the cooperating organizations. Contributions received in exchange for the flowers will be used in relief and rehabilitation work for disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead.

Made By Disabled Vets

Extensive preparations for poppy sales here are being made by the Legion Auxiliary unit under the direction of Mrs. C. Arthur Brame, poppy chairman. The volunteer workers are being organized into teams and assigned to locations in the downtown area. Residence and factory areas also will be covered to give everyone an opportunity to pay tribute to the war dead by wearing a memorial flower.

The poppies have been ordered from veterans' hospitals where they are being made by disabled veterans of both wars, working under the direction of the Pennsylvania Department of the American Legion Auxiliary. They are crepe paper replicas of the European wild poppy which bloomed on the battlefields of France and Belgium in both wars and which has become a worldwide symbol of remembrance of America's battle dead.

"With peace restored and the men coming home," Mrs. Brame said, "everyone will want to pay tribute to those who can never come back to us by wearing a poppy in their honor on Poppy Day."

Decline Food For Needy If Tractors Are Used On Farms

Lancaster, Pa., April 29 (AP)—Thousands of men, women and children in Europe may starve for lack of food this summer because the "religious beliefs" of the House Amish sect demands they use only horses—and not tractors—to pull farm equipment, says Clyde A. Zehner, chairman of the Pennsylvania Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Zehner, in issuing an appeal to 1,000 farmers in the fertile Lancaster county section, insisted yesterday he had "no quarrel with people's religious beliefs," but maintained the House Amish failure to use tractors is "very inconsistent" since they have made numerous changes in centuries-old customs.

Zehner declared the sect has substituted mowers for scythes, grain binders for cradles, and threshing machines for flails—but said that tractors most of them own are used "for nearly everything except plowing and harrowing."

"Every tractor that is not used for plowing and harrowing means that at least 32 persons in the star-

BRITISH BRIDE OF LOCAL VET ARRIVES SUNDAY

Adams county welcomed another English bride Saturday with Mrs. Betty Crandon Timmins, of Somerset, England, wife of William T. Timmins, Jr., Buford avenue, arriving aboard the U. S. S. Saturnia.

Mrs. Timmins was one of 1,200 English brides to arrive in the U. S. Saturday aboard the ship. She was met by her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Timmins, Sr., at New York city.

The couple met while the former Pfc. Timmins was stationed in England with the 393rd Gas Supply company. He then took part in the invasion of France with the company and was in Germany, Belgium and the Battle of the Bulge before returning to England after hostilities had ceased in Germany. While in England as a student at the U. S. Army university at Shreveport, Timmins and the former Miss Crandon were married. Shortly after the wedding in December Timmins was returned to the U. S. and was discharged from the service at Indian-town Gap December 28. He served approximately three years in the army, two of them overseas.

See New York in Snow

Mrs. Timmins' ship arrived in New York at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and she was through customs by 11:15 a. m. They spent the remainder of the day visiting the sights in New York city, returning to Gettysburg Sunday afternoon.

New York was having a mixture of snow and rain during the day and atop Radio City, where they were sightseeing, a full snow was falling. Mrs. Timmins told her husband that the weather reminded her much of London.

The younger Mr. Timmins is now a student at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, entering that institution February 6.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Crandon. Mr. Crandon, a former English marine who was discharged from the service recently, is a building contractor.

Littlestown RETIRES AFTER SERVING 42 YRS. AS CHORISTER

Rev. John C. Brumbach, pastor of Christ Reformed church, announced Sunday the retirement of Harvey W. Schwartz as chorister, following a period of service of 42 years and one month. Mr. Schwartz will be succeeded by Paul Borwager. The pastor also called attention to the retirement from office of C. Daniel Good, who retired as financial secretary after serving in that capacity for 35 years. He was succeeded by Harry C. Wildasin.

Rev. Mr. Brumbach called attention to the faithful service of these two men over this great period of years. He also traced the changes that took place in the choir.

When Mr. Schwartz began as choir master, the choir was on a level with the chancel, with space for only four or five persons. A pew was later removed from the auditorium which increased the capacity of the choir to eight or nine. Some years ago the choir loft was raised to its present height and contains chairs for about 18.

At the Sunday morning church service, the Rev. Brumbach baptized James LeRoy Brown, infant son of Homer F. and Evelyn Anna (nee Cool) Brown, who was born in Union township on January 11. The parents were the sponsors.

After the church service, pictures were taken of the two catechetical classes of Christ church, as well as the class of St. Luke's.

70 Years in GettysburgBy DR. HENRY STEWART
Drug Stores

For a short period in the '80s, Dr. J. P. Brennenman, who had practiced in Arendtsville, and other localities in the county, lived in Gettysburg, and conducted a drug store on Baltimore street, where Philip Biele is now located. In 1890, he appears to have removed to York, for the same purpose. It is not my recollection that he ever figured in the medical practice of the town—except probably "counter prescribing."

Mr. John M. Huber for many years conducted his drug store. He was followed, after his death by his brother, Harry, for some years at the present site of the Shuman store.

(They were sons of Dr. H. S. Huber, one of Gettysburg's foremost physicians, who practiced here from 1846 to 1873. His office was in the southwest corner of the Center square in 1850 and at the southeast corner of Chambersburg and Washington streets, in 1866.)

Buehler's Drug store was one of the "institutions" of the town—located on the present site of the City market.

It was established by Samuel Buehler in 1818—continued by his son Alexander D. Buehler, with his nephew Luther associated with him, and succeeding him. When A. D. Buehler died in 1893, he had been in business in the same store for sixty years.

Unique Family

(He was of a family I think unique in the extent to which it dominated the business and professional life of Gettysburg, over a long period of time. In addition to "A.D." there were, Colonel Charles, who had attained the highest command rank among the troops furnished by Adams county in the Civil War, and conducted the largest coal, lumber and stove business in the town, in the present building of the M. A. Hartley company; Henry, also a Civil War soldier, who conducted a "tinners' shop" in the rear of the Colonel's establishment; David A., lawyer, postmaster, editor of the Star and Sentinel for many years, and succeeded by his son, Guyon; the family of another brother, Samuel, who resided at the corner of the alley of Baltimore street, where the American Legion building now stands. There was another, E. B. Buehler, a cousin, I think, a lawyer, whose family resided about the middle of the first square of Baltimore street, east side.

It would seem that a detailed account of this family, by some one who has the data, would be an interesting addition to the history of the town.)

A. D. Buehler was a trustee of Pennsylvania college, its treasurer, and a member of the firm Buehler and company, (the company being Hon. Edward McPherson) who succeeded the Harpers as proprietors of the Star and Sentinel. In addition to the drug business, he included a book store, the only one in the town, catering principally to the student trade. It's distinctive sign was two stacks of bottles, each five to six feet high, each bottle forming the stopper for that below in diminishing sizes, filled with colored liquids, one in each end of the show window.

All this leads up to the "raison d'être" of the fact that Buehler's drug store was a congregation place for members of the college faculty and some business and professional men of the town, a sort of a glorified "cracker barrel" where all the affairs of the country were decided, or at least discussed. As before said, it was an "institution."

In a smaller way, we had another "institution"—Amos Eckert's hat and shoe store, first on the site of the present "Cute rate" store, later on the north corner of the Center square and Chambersburg street. This was an evening congregating place for the college students.

Kahler said he will leave for Winfield in about ten days to take over his new post, which will include coaching of the football, basketball and track teams.

KAHLER QUILTS
AT DICKINSON

Carlisle, Pa., April 29 (P)—Arthur D. Kahler, head football coach at Dickinson college, announced his resignation today, effective immediately to become director of athletics and coach at Southwestern college, Winfield, Kan.

Kahler said he was dissatisfied with the situation at Dickinson because of lack of a directing head due to the illness of the president, Dr. C. William Pretzman. Since Dr. Pretzman became ill in March, 1945, the college has been under supervision of a board with Gilbert Malcolm, executive secretary, serving as acting president.

ROSE GARDENS REPAY EFFORTS SPENT ON THEM

In a month or so gardens in this area will be adorned with the sparkling colors of the roses, but the sparkle will not be high unless the bushes have had reasonable care. Few plants pay back so much for such relatively little trouble, but they are victims of so many enemies that they appreciate an ally who can help them.

Over the years "The American Rose Annual" provided a steady stream of sound advice for rose growers, particularly those with limited space. The 1946 annual, edited by Dr. R. C. Allen, of Harrisburg, Pa., secretary-editor of the American Rose Society, adds to this constantly increasing sum of information. Even if the previous annuals have been missed, this year's book has sufficient content to make it complete in itself. It is simple enough for the gardener who wants to try his hand at roses and yet has a great deal of material of value to those with advanced knowledge.

Insects a Challenge

Those who take to growing roses should be made aware that they

Problems With Tomatoes

Home gardeners should place first emphasis on tomatoes this year in order to supplement the year-round diet with the many benefits tomatoes offer. Of course, cultural problems are numerous, among which the following described diseases and insect enemies are prominent:

Flea Beetles—Small black or brownish beetles gnaw tiny holes in the leaves, usually attacking tomato plants while the foliage is wilting after transplanting. Avoid wilting by transplanting on cloudy day, and combat the pests with a rotenone dust.

Hornworms—As these insects are seldom numerous enough to warrant combat by insecticides, hand-picking is recommended. Aphids—Infestations of small green lice are usually localized in the East. When numerous, aphids may cause plants to wilt and turn yellow. Combat the pests promptly with nicotine dust applied when the air is still and the temperature is above 70 degrees.

Early Blight—This disease is identified by brown spots on the leaves, with target-like markings as the spots enlarge. Stems show brownish cankers which girdle them near the ground level, often causing collar rot. Later the fruits develop dark leathery spots. Avoid plants with stem cankers. Apply Bordeaux mixture as soon as the spots appear. Treat seed with Semesan before sowing or buy plants from a reliable source.

Leaf Spot—Like blight, leaf spot is a fungus disease. It lives from year to year in the soil, on tomato refuse and on host plants—Jimson weeds, horse nettles and ground-cherry. The identifying symptoms are small spots on the leaves with light centers and dark margins. Inspection of the spots with a strong reading glass reveals tiny dark specks. Rotate tomatoes to clean soils each year, burn all refuse before winter, keep the mentioned host weeds removed from the garden and nearby areas, and spray tomato plants with Bordeaux mixture.

Fusarium Wilt—Among the early evidences of this fungus disease is a gradual yellowing and wilting of the lower leaves, with infection moving higher on the plants. Cutting a stem crosswise will show a browning of the woody tissue immediately beneath the green covering. Fungi may live in infected

Garden Activities For Beginning Of May

Spray or dust roses to prevent injury from black spot, mildew, aphids and rose slugs.

Water peonies frequently and thoroughly to fill out the flower buds.

Place paper collars around the stems of young plants just set out to protect them from cut worms.

Early spring-flowering shrubs may be pruned as soon as their blooming period has ended.

Although lilacs seldom are in need of pruning, their height may be controlled by cutting the blooms with long stems. Remove the suckers coming up around the base of the plants.

As soon as foliage expands on apple, beech, birch, elm, hickory, oak and walnut trees, spray them with arsenate of lead to protect them against such leaf-eating insects as the cankerworm.

Seedlings crowding one another in the row must be thinned out to give the remaining ones plenty of space for free development.

Plant gladiolus corms now.

Set out pansy plants.

Plant dormant shrubs, trees, perennials and hardy vines.

Plant lettuce, onions, Swiss chard, parsnips, beets, parsley, early cabbage, carrots, kohlrabi, mustard, turnips, New Zealand spinach, broccoli and early cauliflower.

INOCULATION FOR LEGUMES

Peas, beans and all other legumes should be inoculated with a culture of nitrogen-gathering bacteria to insure maximum growth. The cultures in powder form are easiest to use, as all that is necessary is to mix a little of the powder with the seeds previous to sowing. Peas may be moistened slightly so that the powder will adhere to them better, but beans must be kept dry.

soils many years. There are no means of control except to grow one or more of the resistant varieties, including Marglobe, Rutgers, Pritchard, Break O' Day and Pan American. Spraying is wholly ineffective.

Mosaic—Like the same disease of many other plants, mosaic of tomatoes causes green and yellow mottling of the leaves and dwarfing of the entire plant. Avoid smoking or other contact or use of tobacco while handling tomato plants, as tobacco often carries the virus. Pull and burn infected plants as soon as they are discovered. Sprays are in manner effective.

Anthrax—Sunken, water-soaked spots on the ripened fruits are the first symptoms of anthrax. It is most serious in warm, moist seasons. Pick fruits as soon as they ripen; apply Bordeaux mixture where this disease is expected.

Blossom-End Rot—This condition usually results from excess foliage robbing the fruits of needed moisture. Avoid use of fresh stable manure and fertilizers with a high nitrogen content. Strip off superfluous lower leaves when tomatoes near full size; mulch plants with grass clippings or other moisture-holding vegetation in dry weather. And do not forget to write the editor about your tomato problems whenever you have an unanswered question.

Cucumbers Air-Minded, Save Space By Climbing

Of the vine crops—cucumbers, melons, squash and pumpkins—cucumbers are the most efficient for small gardens—that is they give most for the space they occupy—when grown as climbers.

All cucumbers will climb, and like it; so don't feel it necessary to grow varieties especially listed in catalogues as climbers, if you want to grow them on a trellis or fence.

Pick out the best varieties for your purpose—salad or pickles—sow them close to the support they are to climb, and see that they are headed in the right direction. They climb so fast, clinging by their own tentacles, you'll compare them to Jack's bean stalk.

Difficulty in growing cucumbers springs mostly from insect enemies, of which the worst is the striped cucumber beetle. This handsome pest away. As soon as the plants the vine, and its offspring eat the leaves; and also carry a disease which may cause the vine to wilt and die before it bears. But DDT the new insecticide, will keep this pest away. As soon as the plants

Now Is Time To Set Out Pansies

Plant gladiolus corms now.

Set out pansy plants.

Cultivate the perennial border, thus discouraging weeds and aerating the soil.

After the daffodils have ceased to bloom, give the plants an application of a complete plant food.

Borers in lilacs become active at this time. Their presence is indicated by sawdust on and below the stems. Work a thin wire into the holes and inject a nicotine sulphate paste.

Spring is the best time to divide delphiniums.

Plant evergreen trees and shrubs.

Prune early-flowering shrubs as soon as blooming has ended.

Plant lettuce, onions, Swiss chard, radishes, parsnips, beets, parsley, early cabbage, carrots, kohlrabi, mustard and turnips.

Deep soil preparation in the planting of small and large trees and shrubs is beneficial.

When planting bare root trees and shrubs, remove all broken, dead or badly dried roots or rootlets.

Plant dormant shrubs, trees, perennials and hardy vines.

GROWING ICELAND POPPIES

There are some gardeners with whom the Iceland poppies grow like weeds, but others have little luck with them despite generous care. The plants are interesting perennials that will bloom the first year if the seed is sown in early spring where the plants are to bloom. Those who have given up growing them should try Papaver amurense, also called yellow wonder poppy, which is very similar and does well almost everywhere.

LIGHTING PHLODENDRONS

While the phloendron does not need direct sunlight, it does need good light conditions.

May Is Best Time To Plant Perennials

Early May is a much better time than June to start most perennial flowers from seed. The seeds are likely to germinate more rapidly and freely while the nights are quite cool and day-time temperatures are conducive to plant growth.

If no coldframe is available, prepare a special seed bed in some garden corner, pulverizing the soil well and adding a generous quantity of humus to a depth of five or six inches. After a thorough watering provide shade by stretching a piece of burlap over a wooden framework. Water whenever the soil surface shows signs of drying out. As the plants gain size, support the burlap frame high enough to allow a foot of headroom above them.

PLANTING POLYANTHA PRIMROSE

Sow seeds of Polyantha Primrose in a shady spot or cold frame in May. Transplant early, keep shaded and moist all summer. Winter over in a cold frame or protected spot.

BANQUET FARE

Food served at banquets is to be reduced to aid conservation. News-Item.

What's that? Reduce such treats as these—
The dish of carrots mixed with peas?

Of mashed potatoes, with a flip,
Just toss the guests a single dip?

Have banquets come to such a pass
As "broth of chicken, demi-lassé"?

Can chefs contrive to serve the guests
With smaller tougher poultry breasts?

Ask me! I'll tell the wide world where
Should saving start with banquet fare.

Cut down the president's report;
And then insist on speeches short.

Turn off the windmills, stop the birds
Who seem to have no end of words.

Committee, spare the banquet plate,
But stop the fellows who orate.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

INFINITE CAPACITY

Never do we know when our full capacity for action shall be called upon. In fact, who among us can even measure his capacity? Only through the test of emergency and experience can we come into the realization of our capacity, be it great or small.

None of us know our limits. To a very large extent, however, we do know much of our capacity to love, to hate, to endure hardship, to work this physical body of ours, and to endure pain or disappointment, but in none of these do we know our full capacity.

Responsibility calls upon capacity as does nothing else. It has a sobering effect, and challenges our capacity. Thus do those in humble stations often rise to commanding positions of which they little dreamed.

We tie to those in whose capacity for love, loyalty, and devotion we have faith and confidence. Often this does not show outwardly, but we feel its inward possibility as applied to each—and to the many other qualities of worth. Character always emphasizes the worth of a person.

Capacity, however, always remains an unknown quality. We are forever challenging it in an endless number of ways. And it is well that we do. Otherwise we would get nowhere, nor even learn our ability to rise above our latest best.

We never know when someone is going to light a slumbering fire within us, to a glow, or to a great, burning desire to outdo all former efforts. Nor do we know when we ourselves will do just this, through some act of discovery, or through some extra effort on our part. God has given to every human being this precious heritage of capacity. And it is infinite, as has been proved time and again.

A reader of a recent big selling book wrote to the author and asked how to be such a writer. The author replied was "to devote eighteen years to the task!" Little did that writer know her own capacity, until she had had several failures behind her. We get acquainted with our capacity as we go along—ever striving to surpass ourselves.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Paintings That Inspire."

WINDOW BOX ANNUALS

Balcony petunias in variety probably give more color to a sunny window than any other annual. Also suitable for sunny boxes are sweet alyssum, dwarf marigold, mesembryanthemum, Brownallia speciosa, lobelia, verbena, and ageratum. The wishbone flower (Torenia) will give color to shady box.

The amount of the bequest originally was about $515,000—which has accumulated by interest since.

The Great National Fair: The display of American manufactures which will be exhibited at the great National Fair at Washington on May 20th will, beyond doubt, be a splendid one. I.O.O.F.—The members of Gettys Lodge, I.O.O.F., in this place, on Tuesday night, commemorated the anniversary of the establishment of the Order in the United States, by a reunion and special exercises. R. D. Armor, the oldest P. G. of the lodge, presided and made the opening address. Speeches were made during the evening by Rev. W. R. H. Deatrich, Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal, D. A. Buehler, H. J. Stahl, H. O.U.A.M.—The state council of the Pennsylvania Order of United American Mechanics met in Pittsburgh on Friday. The Order is an important and growing organization, which exerts a great deal of influence in industrial circles. There are two hundred and sixty councils in the state. The main purpose of the order is the encouragement of American manufactures and the improvement of the condition of American mechanics. There is a council in Gettysburg, which, we understand, is in a flourishing condition.

DECISION MADE ON COURT; TURNS TO COAL STRIKE

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Washington, April 29 (AP)—President Truman, his mind made up on the Supreme Court, turned today to a search for means of settling the nationwide soft coal strike before industrial paralysis sets in.

The President's choice of a new chief justice to replace the late Harlan F. Stone and of a new member of the court to succeed the man who will be elevated to the presiding spot are expected to be announced early this week—possibly tomorrow. That much was known definitely, but White House candidates for the most part declined to verify this speculation: (1) That either Robert H. Jackson or William O. Douglas will be moved up to head the court and (2) That Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, a Republican, will be added to its membership.

Concern Over Coal
Jackson, a close friend of Mr. Truman, is serving as Chief U. S. Prosecutor at the Nazi war crimes trials in Nuremberg and probably would not return to the bench before the June adjournment even if he gets the nod. The new court term opens in October.

Some Capitol Hill friends of the President said they think that if Patterson is moved into the tribunal, W. Stuart Symington, assistant secretary of war for air, might be considered for the cabinet post.

Mr. Truman's concern over the dwindling coal supply was reflected in the solemn demeanor of reconstruction director John W. Snyder, who accompanied the President back to Washington from Quantico, Va., after a week-long vacation.

Snyder told reporters he could offer little tangible hope for an early settlement of the 29-day walk-out.

Up To Labor Secretary
The reconversion chief reportedly told the President that if the 400,000 soft coal miners remain out of the pits another two weeks the paralyzing effect of the strike will be felt all over the country. It already has hit the steel industry hard, Snyder told Mr. Truman, and coal is being borrowed from some big railroads to keep freight moving on some smaller carriers.

The President thus far has left final responsibility up to Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach, who is making desperate efforts to get John L. Lewis and the operators together in a resumption of negotiations by tomorrow.

The coal operators have been idling since April 10, when Lewis broke off the conversations with a declaration that operator's refusal to commit themselves on his health and welfare fund proposal made further talks "futile." The operators insisted that the UMW chief make his wage and hour demands clear and settle them first.

Implement Shed Is Damaged By Fire
The East Berlin firemen were summoned to the scene of a fire which damaged an implement shed on the recently purchased property of Walter Shellenberger, East Berlin R. 3, about 4:30 Friday afternoon, and in spite of considerable wind, were able to keep the flames from doing further destruction.

Firemen were delayed a few minutes by a report giving the impression that the blaze was at the property where the Shellenbergers have been residing, not far away. The farm where the fire broke out has been known as the Lebanon Valley college farm, purchased in February from the trustees of the Annville college by Mr. Shellenberger who has not yet taken possession.

The place was formerly tenanted by Mr. and Mrs. David B. Lebo, whose daughter, Mrs. William Byron, Jr., and family still reside there.

GOOD NEWS
Chicago, (AP)—Youngsters should be commended, not scolded, for chewing gum in school says Dr. George Crane, psychologist and writer.

He told a Cook County Teachers' institute that gum chewing "grinds off" the nervous tension of city life and that a stick of gum given to each school child would "enable him to work off a tremendous amount of energy."

Water into which glowing coals had been plunged was considered by ancient magic as the best precaution against the evil eye.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, April 28 (AP)—If you're interested in a guy who really gets around, how about Eddie Arcaro? ... Eddie hopped from Jamaica to Keeneland to ride Lord Boswell in the Blue Grass, came back just long enough to get a change of silks and then dropped in at Havre De Grace Saturday to boot home another Derby prospect, Hampden, in the Chesapeake. ... Eddie's idea of a winning ticket apparently is one issued by an airline. ... After seeing Halfback Glenn Davis perform in the outfield at West Point last week, Mel Ott commented, "the main trouble with the Army team is that they depend on Davis in center field to catch every ball." ... Mel probably will be satisfied if he can say the same for Goody Rosen. ... What we thought the Giants needed was some pitchers whose offerings wouldn't be belted out there too often.

KEEPING IT DARK

"Sports publicists at Louisiana State university," says a communique from the south, "will use a hands-off policy regarding the athletic prowess of Alvin Dark, dark-horse of LSU's football power, who is expected to return from the marines this summer. The case of Charley Trippi, whose buildup before the Georgia-LSU game last fall was let down when the Tigers stopped him, will be cited to all those predicting the appearance of a sure-bet All-American. Dark will have to show his pre-war wares before the tom toms start beating." ... The writer? Oh yes, LSU Sports Publicist Jim Corbett.

MONDAY MATINEE

A puzzler to track coaches at the Penn Relays is why the half-mile relay, one of the best events to watch, always is run off on Saturday morning when there aren't any spectators. ... The Washington Redskins, who have played in 22 states, are trying to interest some other National football league club in making a training trip to Hawaii with them in 1947. ... Pitcher Russ Crider, a Boston Braves farmhand at Hartford, has been strikeout king of every pro league he has played in. Russ topped the West Texas-New Mexico loop in 1940 and '41, then put in a four-year army hitch. ... Tony Galento is trying to import an Italian heavyweight named 'One Ton Tony Galento' of Naples. "Even if he can't fight, he's got a good name," said Two-Ton Tony.

Michigan Speedster Sets Swim Record

Pittsburgh, April 28 (AP)—Charles Moss, University of Michigan speedster, went three of the six events and set a new meet record in the annual Allegheny Mountain association AAU swimming championships here yesterday.

Moss was clocked at 4:03 for the 300-yard individual medley, erasing the 4:06 mark set in 1929 by Allen Cross of Erie. His other victories were in the 100 and 220-yard free style.

BOSTON TEAMS CAN DREAM OF CHAMPIONSHIPS

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Pennant-starved Boston, which hasn't boasted a championship team since 1918, has good reason for dreaming today of its first flag winner in 28 years, and with a little luck could possibly be the center of an all-city World Series next October.

Both Boston representatives—the Red Sox and Braves—swept doubleheaders from their Philadelphia rivals yesterday to change the pennant pictures. The Red Sox whipped the Athletics 2-1 and 5-1, and the Braves took the measure of the Phils 6-1 and 2-1.

The coup de grace engineered by the Red Sox played Joe Cronin's hopefuls at the top of the American league, a full game in front of the New York Yankees. The Braves, still rebounding from a hitless affair against Brooklyn's Ed Head last Tuesday, are in third place after four straight victories. Only one game separates them from the front-running Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals.

Rosen Does Job

The Brooks and Cards, one-two in the senior circuit, each suffered a double reversal. The New York Giants supplied the knockout punch to their interborough rivals before 54,811 paying customers, and the champion Chicago Cubs gave the Redbirds a thorough going over.

As might be expected, it was Goody Rosen, a Dodger hiring himself only last Friday, who packed the biggest wallop of all the Giants. His three singles in the first game and a three-run homer and one-bagger in the second were the big blows of the Giants' 7-3 and 10-4 decision. Rosen shared honors with Hal Schumacher who made his first start since leaving for the navy three years ago. Schumacher spaced seven hits in the opener to snap Brooklyn's eight-game winning streak.

The Cubs got revenge for three previous defeats by the Redbirds by winning 9-7 and 3-1 before 31,699 fans.

Knuckleballer Roger Wolf knocked the Yankees out of first place 3-1 with a well-pitched seven-hitter as teammate Stan Spence provided the winning margin with a double in the eighth that scored two runners.

Record Crowd

The Tigers disappointed the largest crowd in Detroit's history—57,149 paid admissions—by bowing to the Cleveland Indians 3-1 in 12 innings to sink deeper into third place. Red Embree, who held the Tigers to six hits and would have had a shutout but for Hank Greenberg's second home run of the season, won his own game when he doubled in two mates in the 12th.

Cincinnati's unpredictable Reds gained their fourth straight victory over Pittsburgh's Pirates 7-1 as Ed Heusser held the Bucs in check with seven safeties.

Aged Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox registered his 260th triumph, his first since his release from the U.S. Marines, by taming the St. Louis Browns 4-3 in the first game of a double header. The Browns, scoring nine unearned in the first frame, won the second contest 11-8, as the White Sox used 22 players including seven pitchers.

ILLINOIS WINS 3 RELAY TITLES

Philadelphia, April 28 (AP)—A speedy University of Illinois sextet found wind, rain and a muddy track no disadvantage in the 52nd running of the Penn relay carnival to outshine 3,400 athletes from 500 schools with three relay triumphs.

The swift Illini dominated the short relays winning the 440-yard, the mile and sprint relay events with ease. The westerners, in fact, would have made it a quadruple triumph had it not been for the haste of Speedster Herb McKenley, National AAU 400-meter champ. McKenley, running anchor on the half-mile relay team, took the baton illegally from his teammate, Illinois, leading by 30 yards at the time, was disqualified.

But though the thousands of rain-drenched spectators who witnessed the two-day jamboree last Friday and Saturday applauded the winning antics of the Illinois runners, they could not forget New York university and Manhattan college. These two schools kept the east from being shoved out of the collegiate headline picture.

Win Two Events

NYU went all out to win in every event—and came close on more occasions than was reckoned. The Violet finished second in two relays, third in two, fourth in one and was well on the way to finishing second in another when its team was disqualified.

NYU trackmen, however, were not all show and place finishers. Bernie Mayer topped the discus throwers and Irv Kintisch won the shot put event.

Manhattan found the going as easy as the muddy cinder path they ran in, turning in victories in the four-mile and distance medley relays.

Buffalo Pin Teams Seek Marks In ABC

Buffalo, N. Y., April 28 (AP)—The Simon Pures, champion Buffalo quintet, and the Lackawanna, N. Y., Lucky Strikes, two highly rated western New York teams, will attempt to dent standings in the American bowling congress tournament tonight.

Standings in the meet remained unchanged for the seventh successive day following yesterday's competition.

The little known Myers well drillers of Coatesville, Pa., took honors for last night with a 2906 gross and nosed out the highly regarded Heineman's major league No. 1 team from Hempstead, N. Y., which came in with a 2901.
